PIERRE, S.D., March 22.-While some workmen were excavating yesterday on the bluff north of Capitol hill they unearthed ten human skeletons, all seemingly thrown into a pit together, rocks and other debris being thrown in on top and covered with earth. Six of the skulls were of white men, one a white woman's and the others of Indians. Bullet holes were found in five of them. The woman's head had been crushed with a hatchet. An arrow head was found in the breast bone of an Indian skeleton. Nothing was found to give a clew as to who they were except a silver medallion, dated 1847, having the name of Henry Mackenzie on the reverse side and an inscription noting the bravery of the wearer at the battle of Buena Vista. Col. Joe Reed, a famous scout among the Sioux forty-five years or more, saw the medallion and said he remembered Mac-kenzie. His last recollection of him was thirtyfive years ago, when Mackenzie started out with a party consisting of his wife, four men and several Indians to go through to Fort Ben-ton from old Fort George, 12 miles from the river. The party never arrived at Fort Ben-ton and no traces of them were ever found. He thinks these skeletons are the remains of

McAULIFFE WON.

He Takes the $12,500 Purse for Whipping Carroll. San Francisco, March 22.—No fight here ever caused such a furore as the contest last night between Jack McAuliffe and Jimmy Carroll at the Athletic club. There was big money up The purse offered by the club amounted to $3,000, of which $500 was to go to the loser, in addition to this sum each principal had posted $5,000 on the fight, making the total sum which would fall into the hands of the sum which would fall into the hands of the winner $12,500.

Odds before the battle were 100 to 80 and 100 to 60 for Mc against Carroll. The men met at the California club last night and selected seconds. Carroll selected Martin Murphy and Florrie Barnett. McAuliffe announced that Billy Madden and Jack Dempsey would be in his corner. Carroll immediately raised a strong objection to Dempsey on the ground that he was an employe of the club and as such he was disqualified to act as second. The directors pointed out that Carroll himself, who is also an employe of the club, had acted as second for McCarthy in the latter's fight with second for McCarthy in the latter's fight with Dempsey last month. They therefore sus-pended the rule and allowed Dempsey to go behind McAuhffe. Hiram Cook was selected as referee.

As early as 6 o'clock in the evening spectators began to assemble at the gymnasium of the California club and two hours later there was not a vacant seat in the large building, fully 2,000 persons being present. It was nearly 9 o clock when the contestants, accompanied by their seconds, appeared in the ring. McAuliffe was the first to step over the ropes. Both men were received with much enthusiasm. The weights were announced as follows: McAuliffe, 1845; Carroll, 1855; Time was called at 9:10, HOW IT WENT.

After the forty-third round Carroll continued to gain the advantage and in the next three rounds he pounded McAuliffe on the jaw and in the mouth and nose until it seemed the latter would go out every moment. McAuliffe, though very weak, returned the blows when be could, but they seemed to have little effect. At the opening of the forty-seventh round it looked upon their feet. Finally Mc's right fist came in contact with Carroll's jaw and the latter went down. He rose in three or four seconds and Me started in to finish him, though it was difficult to say which man was the weaker. Mc's face was well covered with blood, but there was very little on Carroll's. The men continued to pound away at each other's heads, though Mc's blows were harder, and he finally caught Carroll in the mouth and sent him down to the floor with a thump. Carroll lay insensible stretched out on his back, while the seconds were being counted off. When the ten seconds were completed there was still no movement of his body and his seconds had to carry him to his corner, while Mc was declared victor amid enthusiastic cheering of the spectators. The battle was a scientific contest from the start.
